The first video appears to be from a local Napa resident who can be heard explaining to them how she saw the fire. They can also be heard saying "We're gonna get shot out of here," and "If you can get out of here, get out of here" before they retreat to their vehicle. When they get to their car, they tell onlookers that their home is burning: Wish I had this video back in April! More than 200 people have been killed in Napa and Sonoma counties, and several thousand more are still missing. Napa County Sheriff's Department spokesperson Jim Amormino told TIME that one of the deadliest wildfire incidents in California history was averted when a state prison inmate was able to hand off an escapee to officers, allowing them to capture the escapee within minutes of his release. The escaped inmate, Michael David Hayes, was later found dead, and the incident is under investigation, according to CBS. In other news about the fires, the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection (Cal Fire) said Wednesday that there has been no change in conditions. They said that the aerial view of the area the previous day showed that a window of potential rain, which will be needed to slow the fires, was expected to develop in the next three days. However, "rain is not a guarantee," Cal Fire said. The National Weather
