Tag Archives: ffxiv-g It is not like we do not know anything about the Final Fantasy XIV version for Android. In fact, we have a fairly detailed history of the Android version of the MMORPG on the site: It all started with us commenting on how great it was that you could play Final Fantasy XIV on the mobile platform. Since then, we've been notified of the official release date and, later, some tidbits on the game. Well, not only did we know these details, but we also have an account with the beta. And, in fact, we can do an actual video tutorial for the game! We decided to record a video tutorial on Final Fantasy XIV for Android, using the gear we are wearing during the beta. And, for any of you curious, we were wearing Flimsy armor, because we would be needing the best gear when the game released. We were very impressed with the game, since, as we've said, FF14 for Android is quite an experience. In fact, it has a lot of features that would be the hallmark of any MMORPG: Experience all over the world with a fleet of three Landers that will give you access to the different areas of the game world Random battle The good news is that the game is already available on Android. The bad news is that, at the time of this writing, it is still in the Beta stage. We can download and install the game on the Google Play store, but the interface is in Spanish. Moreover, you have to sign up and create an account before you can do anything. And that is the main problem with the game. It's in Spanish, and there's no English version. The ability to register for an account is on the bottom right corner. As soon as you register, you will be able to do a guided tutorial. You do not need to do it in order to play the game. After creating your account, the first thing you have to do is log in and select "Install Now." Here you can see that the first version of the game has about 7,000 installs. It does not surprise us that the beta is not very stable since we are talking about a first version of the game. We advise you not to play in public areas, as the game is still in
