So, I put my own group in the "Allowed Members" and I can access to the website with other users. But if I put this group in the "Allowed groups", I cannot access to the website. It is possible? How I can do it? Thanks. A: You need to apply the permissions on the folder. So if the website is webapp1 then you need to be a member of that group on the root of the website that is webapp1, not just the app_data folder. A group can only be assigned permissions on an object type, not on a folder or document. They are also only "active" when the user has permissions to the site, not when he has permissions to an app_data folder. Note that any time a user is added to a group, the group is associated with every site that the user has permissions to. If you later go and add the user to a separate site, you'll need to add him to that group again. We noticed that you're using an unsupported browser. The TripAdvisor website may not display properly.
