Councilman Bob Weiss said the bench was commissioned by the city council last year, and named the Harry Buhler Memorial Bench after Buhler, 72, and Long Beach Police Sgt. Daniel Nunez, 38, who died after a shootout in which a man drove a pickup truck at them. "For a lot of people, police officers are heroes, but that doesn't mean that our police officers are without risk,"

Weiss said. "When you see an officer on duty, they are at risk of being harmed by those who do not want them on the streets." Advertisement Weiss said the memorial was placed in a location where it would be easy for people to visit. "The intent of the bench was to put it 77a5ca646e
