Rotator Surveys Activation Code

Rotator Surveys Cracked 2022 Latest Version is an open-source software bundle, written in Java, which allows you to design questionnaires. This bundle offers a large range of survey templates, allowing you to create questionnaire forms, with various type of questions, answer types, keywords, layout and number of waves. You can encode the surveys using a username and password. The bundle consists of the survey modeler, data entry station, OLAP analyzer, classifier, kiosk survey, phone interview station and capture supervisor. Survey modeler: The Survey Modeler allows you to create several types of questionnaires, either online or offline. You can configure the answers type, type of question, layout, priority, properties, variables, keywords and many more. Moreover, the survey can be analyzed in time, depending on the number of waves you wish to test. Data Entry Station: You can integrate the data collected into your CRM, SQL database or Excel spread sheet. Moreover, you can fill the surveys remotely, or help consolidate the answers on the server (in case of an online questionnaire). You may also configure the annotation, classification or integration of the comments. OLAP analyzer: The OLAP analyzer allows you to explore the data you collected. The last version includes the manipulation of aggregates, the creation of pivot tables, collaboration, sorting and filtering, numbers of variables and many more. Classifier: You can create categories, in order to centralize complex answers, using the classifier. This analysis can be done using the programming environment or the in-context classification. Kiosk survey: The Kiosk Survey allows you to manage the validation of the data. The tool helps you to fill the surveys remotely, offer prizes and help you deal with the absence of subjects. The scanning is also integrated, using either a webcam or a barcode. Phone interview station: The phone interview station allows you to prepare the survey collection using the phone number and the contact details of the participants. It creates the survey questionnaire, asks to the participants and arranges a time for a call. The tool allows you to customize the message of the call and connects you to the phone of the participants with its own system. Capture supervisor: The Capture Supervisor is a software that allows you to define and validate the capture of the data. You may specify the method of the collection, either by hand, directly in the web interface or automatically through a reference link. The application allows you 09e8f5149f
