1. Open an image in Photoshop (Figure 1.3A). This book uses a digital photograph of my wife, Laura, sitting on a concrete wall in Central Park. A few adjustments make her face, background, and leaves stand out more. The textures of the background, concrete, and leaves are blurred, which makes the image more interesting. For now, I want to change the shape of Laura's eyes, the color of the teddy bear, and the background. Figure 1.3. An original image with some things to change 2. Choose Window. The menu bar shows the window name and a number below it. Select Window (Figure 1.3B). Figure 1.3. Change the color of the teddy bear. 3. In the Options bar, click the Eyedropper tool. That tool accesses the color picker, so you can click to choose a color. 4. Click Laura's eyes and the background that surrounds them to change their color. Figure 1.3C shows the eyedropper working. I started with the original color of Laura's eyes. 5. Press the Delete key. The top color now appears in the Eyedropper. 6. Click in the same place as the starting color. The eyedropper fills with the new color. 7. Click the Eyedropper tool. The top image in the toolbox is now the second topmost image; it is selected. 8. Click the right arrow to switch to the next color (red). Your mouse changes to the colored arrow from the top right side of the button in the toolbar. 9. Click the green arrow to return to the previous color (black). Your mouse now changes to a lighter color on the button in the toolbar. 10. Click the left arrow to change to the next color (blue). Serum levels of the neuropeptides orexin and galanin in health and in obesity. The neuropeptides, orexin and galanin, have recently been shown to modulate food intake and energy expenditure. We compared the serum levels of these hormones in obese patients with those in healthy controls matched for age and sex. Ten obese patients with a mean body mass index of 31.5 ± 3.0 kg/m² and ten control subjects, matched for age and sex, had their serum samples assayed for the presence of orexin and galanin using ELISA (enzyme-linked immunosorbent assay). Serum levels of orexin-A and orexin-B in the obese group were decreased compared with the control group (45.2 ± 15.8 pg/ml vs. 60.6 ± 9.0 pg/ml, $p=0.0448$ and 14.7 ± 4.2 pg/ml vs. 19.9 ± 4.5 pg/ml, $p=0.0628$, respectively). No difference was observed in the serum level of galanin between the two groups. These data suggest that the serum levels of orexin-A and orexin-B may change depending on the degree of obesity.

As a police department in the United States, Cumbria Constabulary take their cake very seriously. The 14-page regulations stipulate that if cake has been served to a team, they must each eat a piece - with none left over for later. While the seemingly bizarre rule was first set in place for 'affectionately' serving a piece of cake to colleagues, it has sparked an increasing sense of amusement. MORE: Police officers say no to fizzy water 'too loud' for morning meetings A police officer has been forced to offer the sweet advice of 'have a light lunch' ...instead of trying a bite (Picture: Cumbria Constabulary)
